

Prisma or mirror glasses for age-related macular degeneration

Your new Prisma or mirror glasses from Geldmacher

As a specialist optical company, we have long concerned ourselves with two forms of age-related macular degeneration and how to give visually impaired people a significant increase in their quality of life.

This is made possible through the NuCentro, a special system of glasses that makes use of the latest findings regarding eccentric fixation as well as the plasticity of the brain and nervous system.

The patient looks, so to speak, around the damaged area.

To put it in precise medical terms: the prismatic shift of the fixation point on the retina along with a shape factor integrated in the glass enable the fixation direction and posture of the patient to be influenced in a positive way.

The object and purpose of the measure is to gradually reprogram the directional values of undamaged retinal areas, so that they form a new retinal correspondence.

To date, we have experienced great success in directly improving vision through our proprietary and patent-pending AMD glasses NuCentro with many of our customers.
